

YULE SERVICES ARRANGED FOR ALL CHURCHES

Marion Congregations Plan Unusually Elaborate Christ-

CANTATAS INCLUDED

Sunday Selected for Observance by Majority of Churches

Elaborate Christmas programs, featuring pageants and musicals, have been arranged for festival observances Sunday and on Christmas day in practically all Marion churches.

Nearly all the churches have planned their Christmas observances for Sunday. Few pastors will hold services on Christmas day.
Outstanding in the Christmas church programs this year are the grand song service and midnight eulogist at 11 o'clock on Christmas eve at St. Paul's Episcopal church; a musical service to be conducted by members of the Luther league at St. Mary's church on Christmas morning; and a Christmas service in the German language over which the Rev. G.
Kander will preside at 10 a. m. on Christmas at Salem Evangelical church.

St. Mary's Church Service High masses will be celebrated at St. Mary's Catholic church on Christmas day at 8 and 8:30 a. m. At the early service Dr. Robert Kammholz will direct the choir in special songs and at 8:30 Sister Mary Vincent will lead the children's choir in a musical program.

After 8:30 high mass there will be dedication of the most blessed sacrament. Other masses on Christmas day will be celebrated at 6:30, 7:30, 8:30 and 10:30 a. m. Instead of the usual Christmas play, cancelled this year on account of illness, the pastors of St. Mary's Parochial school will enjoy a Christmas program and treat as well as a "visit from Santa Claus" at 2 o'clock at the school.

Program at Epworth Youngsters of the Sunday school of Epworth M. E. church will be presented in a Christmas program at 7 o'clock Sunday night at the church, following a concert by the Sunday school orchestra at 8:30. At 10:30 a. m. Dr. B. L. George, pastor, will

Human Driftwood Forgets Fate As Bowery Mission Prepares For Christmas

Tears Glisten in Eyes of Unkempt Figures Pausing in Front of Gaily Decorated Building; Some Scoff Openly and Others Think of Better Days

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—Christmas spirit, now manifest the world over, began to make itself felt today down among the haunts of the homeless, in the Bowery. Red and green bolly was strung from the ceiling in the crowded Bowery mission and a Christmas tree, aglow with tinsel and lights, was placed in the front window.

Haggard old men, with tired, water-eyes, stooped shoulders and beaten hands, expressions peered at the decorations with varying feelings.
Some of them scoffed openly. "Trying to make us believe in Santa Claus?"

Old Pat Crowe, who once achieved notoriety by kidnapping one of the Catholic children out of his home and holding him for $25,000 ransom, gave the Christmas tree one swift glance and moved on. A few others, perhaps thinking of home ties and days gone by when they played Santa Claus themselves, trekked to nearby speakeasies and tried to drown memories with "red eye."

Enter Into Spirit
But for the most part the human driftwood idling about in their threadbare overcoats and worn out shoes forgot or overlooked the blows life had dealt them and entered into the occasion with grateful hearts. Some of them helped put up the decorations.
And a tear glistened in more than one eye. That intangible thing—Christmas spirit—"got" them.

On Christmas day these homeless men are going to try and do a big thing. They are going to "forget themselves for a day."
Forget that they are failures, bums, no accounts. Forget their "inferiority complex." Be men!

Music And Turkey
They are going to sit down to the simplest Christmas dinner you could imagine. Music by a four-piece orchestra. The tables decorated with crucifixes and flowers. White cloth on every table. Waiters in full dress, and in an atmosphere as closely ap-proximating one of the swaggers uptown dining rooms as is possible in the Bowery mission.

They are going to try and "be themselves again" on this day that commemorates the birth of Christ in the stable at Bethlehem. They are going to brush off their tattered clothes, run a rag over their bald heads and turn to Page 5

CHEST PLAN IS FAVORED BY LOCAL PASTORS

Survey Shows Marion Church Leaders Ready To Back
Unified Drive

MINISTERS QUERIED

Say One Campaign Would Avoid Duplication, Bring to Light Real Needs

Marion pastors are in favor of the community chest plan, a survey made by The Star revealed today.

A unified campaign for funds to take care of the city's social and welfare needs during the year, the survey of a dozen of the most prominent church leaders showed, would avoid duplication of effort, mean more inteligent giving, bring to light the real work and needs of the various welfare organizations, and put the work of social welfare on a business basis.

Among the expressions were:
The Rev. Howard L. Oldaker, pastor of First Presbyterian church: "A community chest is desirable for two reasons. First, it will avoid duplication of effort, gift, distribution and more evenly meet the needs of the entire community."

"Second, a community chest means intelligent giving. It is an instrument for dispelling ignorance and bringing to light real needs and conditions for the betterment of the community.
Through this organization the public is adequately informed as to its problems. The whole situation, as covered with intelligent supervision and much care is exercised in formulating ways and means of meeting the need.
"Liberality and generosity can only be awakened through a well-thought-out and reasonable program. This is the unique mission of the community chest to study, plan, reveal the conditions and enlighten the public. When the whole subject is presented in a forceful, clear and intelligent way the community will respond. Our interest and liberality are not dead. Let us accept this chalenge."

tor of Trinity Baptist church:

Rio En Fete For President-Elect

Up the Avenida Rio Branco, beautiful Rio's own "Gay White Way," rode President-elect Hoover in a welcoming ceremony so unusual and colorful as to be unique in Brazil's history. Above, the Guanabara palace where Mr. Hoover was warmly greeted by Washington Lutz (right), president of Brazil. Below, the Brazilian dreadnought Sao Paulo, which met the U. S. S. Utah for oil at sea and escorted her into port.

HOOVER IS FETED BY BRAZIL'S OFFICIALS

President-Elect To Sail Sunday Afternoon, Well Satisfied with Trip

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 22—While President-elect Herbert Hoover was taking part in official ceremonies today, Mrs. Hoover was being feted by the wives of cabinet officers and other high Brazilian officials.

The Hoover couple will trip through Latin America, is virtually finished.
The president-elect and his party will sail on the Utah tomorrow afternoon, ending the first tour of his kind ever undertaken by any man elected to the presidency of the United States.

Mr. Hoover is well satisfied with his trip. He believes it has done much good in bringing South and Central American republics in closer touch with the United States and in strengthening the ties of friendship. Members of the Hoover party think the trip will open up new avenues of communication between the northern and southern continents, both in friendly intercourse and trade.

Much gratified by the spontaneity of the reception accorded him by the friendly Brazilian populace, Mr.
Hoover began the last important business day of his six-week tour today by having confidential conferences with various Brazilian officials and American representatives.

Donkey Whittier Paper Knives For Statehouse Reporters

COLUMBUS, Dec. 22—Paper knives whittled by Gov.
Vic Donahey from driftwood gathered at the banks of Indian Lake, Logan county, near his summer college, have just been received by statehouse newspaper men and other friends of the governor as Christmas pres-year built a number of small bushes which he gave to

Bitterness of Long, Lonely Years Shown in Theodore Roberts' Will

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Dec. 22.—Tears at times sounding in his voice as the loneliness of his own past life came before him in mental images, Edward Robert Higgins, nephew of Theodore Roberts, told today of the long years of exile from home and the estrangements from members of his family that caused the grand old man of the films to disinherit his closest relatives and write words of bitterness into his last will and testament. In his last will, which was expected to be offered for probate today, Roberts had complained bitterly of the long years of loneliness which had been his lot, and named his relatives for what he termed their unsympathetic conduct toward him.

"Lonely and at times disillusioned though he was, I cannot but feel that Theodore's will was in part but an eloquent gesture, for Theodore Roberts was a great actor to the end," said Higgins.

Higgins continued: "When Theodore was 12 years old he had $15, for at that time his father, Capt. Martin Roberts, a San Francisco sea captain and a forty-niner, was a wealthy man. Theodore, with his $15, a little girl and a tent, ran away from home.

"The boy himself at the age of 16 was violently stage-struck. To discourage him his mother sent him to an actor, James O'Neill, who had agreed in advance to point out the evils of stage life to the boy, but when O'Neill and young Roberts met a discussion of Shakespeare arose, argument and debate followed and O'Neill hired the boy as an actor.

New York Church, Nearly Completed, Is Ruined

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Legislative compelling contractors to use steel instead of wood scaffolding on large buildings under construction was urged by fire department officials today as an aftermath of the million dollar fire here last night which ruined the nearly completed Riverside church on Riverside dr.

Fire Chief Kinton declared the use of wood scaffolding endangers adjoining buildings and the people of the whole city. Wood scaffolding was used in the construction of the Sherry Netherlands apartment hotel, the scene of another spectacular fire here.

Damage to the interior of the church and adjoining buildings was estimated today at more than a million dollars. The flames shot up the scaffolding on the 100-foot tower which was to cap the stately edifice and blowing planks dropped on the costly fittings in the church above.

WINS BANNER

Second Grade Pupils Given Award by Community Club

The room taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Dowell at the Davila Street school was awarded the banner at a meeting of the Davila Street Community club yesterday afternoon at the school building. The banner is awarded at such meetings to the room having the most mothers present.

The first grade, taught by Mrs. Carrie Durr; the second grade, taught by Mrs. Dowell; and the third grade, taught by Miss Kathryn Hecker, combined with carols and recitations and the fourth and fifth grades, in charge of Miss Bertha Orlan, gave a play, "Santa's Workshop." A treat was given the pupils by the community club and the teachers. The next meeting will be held Jan. 11.

We don't want our dearest friends to overlook our faults. We want them not to see them at all.

Daily Proverb—"Who throws a stone at the sky may have it fall on his own head."

If winter comes up to the first day's sample, we are going to feel sorry for those who spend their in Florida or California.

Chicago dry leaders are demanding jail sentences for buyers, as well as makers and sellers of liquor. What! Would they have the "good, law-abiding" citizenship of the land humiliated!

That must really be an honest-to-goodness attempt at a clean-up over in Philadelphia.
The president of a brewing company has been convicted of making high-power beer.

The new twenty-passenger all-metal monoplane constructed for service between New York and Chicago has an estimated high speed of 175 miles an hour. As a means of egress from either city, it should have strong appeal.

Not far from Stockholm, Archaeologist Ivar Schneel of the State Historical museum, of Sweden, has dug up stone toys with which the little boys and girls of the Stone age played 1,000 years ago. At last we are getting a line on the age of Old Santa.

There's utterly no question about the widespread influence of the United States in Latin-America. Members of Mr. Hoover's good will party have discovered that the native pearl jewelry they brought down to South America is marked "Made in U. S. A."

As the result of a shooting affray out in Muncie, Indiana, it has been discovered that bootleggers out there have been using a church as a booze warehouse. For several years the country has had reason to wonder regarding the possible uses to which Hooper churches were put.

Mayor Jimmy Walker says he has "blushed many times" as a result of the filthy condition of the streets of New York. Well, well! We never imagined there was anything about the mayor-the news-reel cameras had permitted it to overlook!

"We may endeavor to persuade our fellow-citizens," goes an old-time proverb, "but it is not lawful to force them even to that that is best for them." Of course, it's to be understood that this proverb was written before reforming the other fellow became a regular business.

The Rev. Arthur B. Arnold, Jr., of Hantington Park, California, has been sentenced to serve from one to five years in prison, following his conviction on a charge of issuing worthless checks and a confession of duping religious organizations; the substance of his conviction being that he had posed as blind for five years and then was "cutted" by Almo Semple McPherson in order that the duping might place him in the high esteem of church workers. It's just possible that more of Almo's miracles have been of the same brand.

Fewer Marriages; More Divorces.

The marital statistics recently given out by the department of commerce do not speak volumes for the stability of the American home. For quite a number of years there has been an annual increase in the number of divorces and an annual decrease in the number of marriages, and the department's figures go to show that 1927 was an exception to the rule only in the respect that the percentage of increase in the former and the percentage of decrease in the latter was in each case in 1927 greater than during the preceding year, a new high mark being established in the percentage of divorces and a new low mark in the percentage of marriages.
During the year 192,037 divorces were granted in the United States, an increase of 6.2 per cent. over the previous year, while the marriage ceremonies performed numbered 1,200,001, or 1,550 less than in 1926, despite an increase in population estimated at 1,500-000. Estimating the population of the United States, July 1, 1927, at 115,625,000, the divorce rate was 1.62 to the 1,000 population in 1927 against 1.51 in 1926, while the marriage rate dropped from 10.27 to the thousand in 1926 to 10.12 to the thousand in 1927.

Compared with the 6.2 percentage of increase the country over, the 4.3 per cent. increase in the number of divorces granted in Ohio in 1927 is far more favorable than those of nearby states such as Indiana, with 5.01, Illinois with 6.1 and Michigan with her percentage of increase of 9.1, but even thus considered, it is disquieting that divorces in Ohio are showing an annual increase of 4.3 per cent.

There must be something radically wrong with conditions when dissolutions of marriage continue to increase year after year, despite a dwindling marriage rate, each year showing a higher rate of increase than that preceding it.

Not a Satisfactory Showing.

Experiments with the submarine S-4 off New London this week did not prove so successful as it was hoped they might. The undersize vessel was successfully floated forty-nine hours after it had been submerged in between fifty-five and sixty feet of water to test the efficiency of the rings with which it had been fitted out for the quick attachment of pontoons. Following the test, it was agreed that the rings, or eyes, would as-ist greatly in a work of salvage, but it was the general opinion of the naval experts observing the test that the pontoon idea left much to be desired in effecting a work of rescue.

The value of the test was decidedly lessened owing to the fact that the submarine, in some way, sprang a leak which flooded its motor room. The result was that when the pontoons were called upon to lift the vessel, only its bow was brought above the surface of the water. It was necessary for the attending vessel, the Falcon, to pump air into the after part of the S-4 before the entire vessel came to the surface, forty-nine hours after it had been submerged.

The mishap did demonstrate, however, the wisdom of individual salvage air lines for each of the three main ballast tanks such as have been installed in submarines of the V series. In the S-4, forks of the one air line run to the three tanks, so that the keel, resting on an uneven bottom, made it impossible to force air into the lowest of the tanks. It was found necessary for divers to enter the submarine and open the valve in the control room before air could be pumped into the aft compartment.

The expert observers further pointed out that when a submarine is accidentally sunk the news must reach the world, pontoons and other rescue equipment must be towed to the scene, the pontoons lowered and made fast to the pad eyes, the submarine raised and then towed to a dry dock or beached where the hatches could be opened before any survivors could be removed.

It is considered impossible that all this could have been accomplished in anything even faintly approaching the seventy-eight hours during which six men remained alive in the torpedo room of the S-4 after her fatal crash off Provincetown a year ago or in any length of time during which life might remain aboard a submarine.

Rescue work, in the opinion of the observers, must be devoted to devices permitting trapped crews to leave the vessel safely, such as breathing devices, rather than toward lifting the sunken craft by pontoons.

Secretary of the Navy Willbur, following the test, stated that it did not offer a final solution for such rescue problems as those presented at the time the submarine sank a year ago with its crew on board.

The weight of a wrecked submarine, he said, depended entirely upon the extent to which its water-tight compartments had been invaded by water, and the S-4 in its present condition weighed only about 240 tons, whereas it weighed about 750 tons when sunk off Provincetown by the destroyer, Paulding.

A possible explanation of the ability of Miss Viola Gentry to remain in the air in a solo flight eight hours, six minutes and thirty-seven seconds, establishing a new record for sustained flight by a woman, may be that she talked to herself.

Allonists testifying at the trial of seventeen-year-old Vincent Rice, who received a life sentence for killing his fifteen-year-old in this day and age that's a mighty rare disease.

Sir Sven Andros Hedlin, the Swedish explorer, announces that his Chinese collaborator, Geologist Yuan, has discovered in western China the remains of 400 fully-developed dinosaurs of the Jurassic period and the remains, also, of three newly-born dinosaurian babies, twenty-four inches long, "fresh from the egg," lying close to the remains of their mother. The use of the word "fresh" in this connection recalls the contention of Professor Einstein, that everything is relative.

Maximilich Litvinoff, brother of the subsian soviet republic, is in prison in Paris, following a raid on the rooms occupied by issued under the seal of the Russian trade delegation to Berlin. More of the "Liberty and Equality" stuff!

A Minneapolis girl, seeking to find gold in low-grade iron ore, has discovered a process by which steel may be made from a grade of ore which has heretofore been considered worthless. Not only that, but the steel produced by the process is stronger, tougher and lighter than that produced by present processes. She may not have found gold in just the manner she hoped, but there's little doubt that she has found gold, just the same.

A young fellow from Revere, Massachusetts, who has been receiving alms from passengers on New York subway trains, has been called from that city, the discovery having been made that he was making $500 a week, had a good home in Revere, over $10,000 in mortgages and a good bank account, a newsstand or two in Boston and was served by a valet-secretary. It is getting so that it's a bit hard to gauge sympathy to meet existing conditions.

BEWARE!

Angina Pectoris Attacks.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Pain in the heart or chest is more distressing than other pains because it seems closer to the foundation of life. Everybody has a dread of "heart disease," so it is easier to worry about heart attacks than about all the other human afflictions.

Angina pectoris is the name given certain terrible pains in the chest. These are likened by many to the symptoms which would appear if the heart were crushed in a vise.

Not all attacks of angina are quite as bad as that. But even in the very mildest forms there are severe pains in the chest.

The sensation may be a sense of pressure, following walking or climbing the stairs. A friend of mine who has an occasional attack says it is brought on at times by getting his hands very cold.

In the mildest attacks there is paleness of the face. There may be faintness, too. Sometimes there is actual loss of consciousness.

Angina is a remarkably common ailment of doctors. Older states that about one eighth of all the cases of angina he ever met were doctors.
In the worst attack I ever witnessed, a doctor was the sufferer.

For some reason it is particularly prevalent in America. Also it is essentially, although not invariably, a disease of men. However, I saw a woman suffer a very severe attack only a few days ago.

There are three chief exciting causes for the attacks. The most common is physical exertion.
Needless to say, if you have a tendency to angina, you must be taken to over-exercise.

Almost as bad as physical over-exertion is mental exertion. The emotions may bring on trouble.
Care must be used in the choice of foods and in the care of the intestines. When there is a tendency to the indigestion, fermentation and gas formation are very likely to produce an attack.

Of course every person who is subject to angina pectoris must be made the subject of a careful examination to determine the underlying trouble. responsibility for it. What I have told you about the exciting causes will suggest that physical and mental moderation are essential to the avoidance of the painful symptoms.

In the attack it is wise to lie down at once, or to half recline and keep quiet. By this I mean to keep as quiet as possible, because the pain is so great it is difficult to keep from writhing in agony.

There are drugs which your doctor will give you to take if the attack comes on when he can not be reached.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES W. O. P.—Q.—Is it advisable to take lukewarm water every morning to keep the bowels regular?

A.—Does the use of alcohol in any form agitate the system in a way to cause epileptic trouble?

A.—What do you advise for neuralgia?

A.—No. Correct your trouble by proper dieting.
For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A.—Alcohol might bring on an attack, but would not produce the disease.

A.—A special head and throat examination is advisable. For details send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A. C. C.—Q.—What would cause continuous pains in the chest? What are the first symptoms of cancer of the breast?

A.—May be due to cold, neuralgia, etc. Have your doctor examine your chest and then definite treatment can be advised. A lump in the breast is usually the first symptom of this trouble.

R. J. R.—Q.—I have a funny feeling that comes in my throat soon after eating, causing vomiting.
Could this be due to gastritis or an enlarged gland?

A.—Probably due to improper digestion. Watch your diet and correct constipation. If the trouble persists see your doctor for examination. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, Editorial Opinion.

PRACTICAL "GOOD WILL ON EARTH."

A real victory for peace was gained, when twenty states of Pan-America prevailed upon Bolivia to consent, as had Paraguay, to arbitration and conciliation by the conference now in session in Washington.

Out of both countries may still come reports of warlike preparation, of bitter controversy. But the real result has been attained in the rapid and acceptance of good offices of virtually all the rest of the states of the Western Hemisphere.

The victory is more than of local import. It is significant of the extent and weight of public opinion against war. It is another token of the rising will for peace that gave signatures to the Kellogg Multilateral treaty. That pact may be "only a gesture" as its critics assert; but the only obstacles they have put in the way of its ratification, the only reservations they have offered, are themselves further evidence of the wish to safeguard against conflict at arms.

Evidently it was of supreme import to Bolivia that the sister republics officially were voicing the opinions of their peoples. No one will doubt that these states, through their diplomats, brought to bear upon Bolivia the enormous pressure of warfare, that in this day and age the world would not look with patience or tolerance upon any government that deliberately chose war, instead of exhausting the possibilities of arbitration. Bolivia has been shown that its course dangerously approached defiance of the civilized opinion of the world.

It is then, a victory for world opinion that arbitration is to ensue. And if there are those who seek heartening signs that this is the Christian sense of peace on earth, good will to men, better sense than before the World War, here is the evidence.—Minneapolis Journal.

FORD'S LOOSE ADVICE.

Even from Henry Ford such advice as he is quoted recently to have given to youths of the country to spend their money freely, with the assertion "no successful boy ever saved any money," and to be contented with the world by every rational rule or reasoning. That the validity and truth of such a statement are con-futed by innumerable instances within the experience and observation of practically every citizen, perhaps, will not influence Mr. Ford in his alleged conclusion; but that the reactions possibly resultant from such counsel well may be, in many instances, disastrous, does without saying.
Such a doctrine is beyond words perilous. The fact that isolated instances of the success of impatient and careless youth and ability may be cited in support of Mr. Ford's doctrine proves nothing at all except that in every circumstance of the kind the success of such efforts and ability has been assisted by reason of the fact that some one had practiced the ordinary rules of thrift competence and so stood able to carry on the work of these exceptions to a successful fruition.

The youth who does not save something is the usually defeated man in the battle of earth's practical activities. He goes through life handicapped to attain a goal of disaster.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

New York Day by Day.

BY G. O. MINTIRE.

New York, Dec. 22—Even the confirmed —it takes about ten years to make you that way—New Yorker is continually surprised at the number of new restaurants that spring up weekly. Fifteen years ago, as an example, there were four restaurants on West Seventy-Second street. Today there are ninety-seven.

The average number of cafes in the "Eating Belt" of the 40's is ten to a block. Most of them are chop-houses and quick lunches.
In one block of this zone, incidentally, Italian, Turkish, East Indian, Chinese, Japanese and vegetarian restaurants are represented.

The lowest-priced meal in town is served at a cellar place on the Bowery, where coffee, bread, and a stew are five cents. The most expensive table d'hôte is a highway on the outskirts, where a French dinner, with a full complement of liquor, is $20 a plate.

New York is fairly overrun just now with the so-called "home cooking" places featuring hostesses and Ziegfeldian waitresses.
Some are decorated with an Old World flourish and others merely in paint, and the prices range from eighty-five cents to $2.50.

Fifth avenue ten years ago offered only cafes such as Sherry's, Delmonico's and the like, but today the gastronomical invasion of chain restaurants permits one to dine as economically on the avenue as on Broadway. And the pick of the waitresses—pardon, servers—are assigned there.

The majority of class eating places with a carriage trade are now on Madison and Park avenues. Only east of the avenue does one find cafes that insist on evening dress for patrons or tuck them away behind the obscuring of palms. Every waiter in this area must speak French.

The coffee pots, delicatessens and sandwich parlors over town literally run into thousands. More than 500 kitchens of owl lunch wagons are regularly inspected. And almost every drug store has a counter where breakfast, luncheon and midnight snacks are served.

New York—be's bragging again—is astounding in its independence. Unlike most cities, it is not dependent on a single industry or a group of industries. Over-production of factories, red rust in the wheel fields, frost in the corn belt or a wholesale piddling of night clubs do not make the slightest dent on the commercial tempo. The only thing that thoroughly upsets New York business is a street parade.

For instance, New York is not regarded as a shoe center, yet twice as many shoemakers are making shoes here as in Los Angeles. And half as many meat packers are on the job as in Kansas City, Kansas. Three times as many people are employed in foundries and machine shops as in Pittsburgh. Furniture making lacks only a few thousands employees to be on equal standing with Grand Rapids.
Schneetday is the electrical capital, yet New York employs two-thirds as many people in that industry. It is this diversity that makes the metropolis so indifferent to hoofs. No matter what happens in the outland, business goes on as usual.

If there is a chamber of commerce—I must pry into this—In New York I have never heard a single peep from it.

Wealth makes unique demands. With a sudden rush of property, an actor has employed a masseur to rub the soles of his bare feet nightly and to fall asleep. And a rich old man has a barber who calls morning and evening to massage his scalp for a half hour.

My notion of the pinnacle in luxury would be one of those Chinese laundrymen with long finger nails as a back scratcher. Many famous men have enjoyed back scratching, from Napoleon to the Algonquin boys.

"I have never been on the stage," writes a young man from a Park avenue address, "but I can keep a room full of people laughing all evening just acting dumb. I've made people roll on the floor with my imitation of a man taking a cold shower." He surely must be a case.—Copyright, 1928, by the

The Basis of Life.

BY GARRETT F. SERVICE.

Life marches from the mineral to the plant, from the plant to the animal. The plant takes the elements from the air and the soil and combines them into "the food of life." From the plant the living substance is transferred to the animal. The nature, chemical process by which the plant prepares food from pure mineral matter, the feeding of the animal, if it were, has been called the fundamental basis of the whole of terrestrial life.

But this process has always seemed mysterious, and until lately science has been unable to imitate it. The first recognizable substance that the chemist finds thus produced in the plant is a sugar, either a glucose or a fructose. By drawing carbon dioxide from the air and water from the soil, the plant produces carbonic acid, and from this it is able to prepare the so-called hydrocar-bates which constitute sugar.

The agent employed by the plant in this process has long been known to the plant of the sun. But the puzzle has always been to understand how the sunlight was used. It was also known that the plant employs a green coloring matter named chlorophyll, which gives their color to the leaves—but the part played by that was also a mystery.

The whole process automatically performed

Special Programs Precede Schools' Holiday Closing

Observing the Christmas holidays, schools throughout the city closed today for a two weeks' vacation ending Jan. 7. All of the grade schools presented programs, according to an announcement from Supt. George A. Bowman's office.

Vernon Heights school was unable to carry out the program planned, due to the number of pupils absent because of sickness, but an improvised entertainment was given for the pupils.

The journalism classes of Harding high school, under the supervision of Miss Lucile Foreman, presented a hour assembly, from 9:30 o'clock until 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, in both east and west assembly halls. Harry Dorsey presided as chairman in east hall, and Vance Harden in west hall. The programs were the same in both halls, the order of presentation changing.

Mrs. Florence Shaw, Rutherford, a guest of the classes, sang a group, "Famous Christmas Carols," before both assemblies. The Bible story of the first Christmas was told by Miss Evelyn Bachelder to open the west hall program, followed by a story, "The Legend of the Christmas Rose," by Miss Eula McNamara.

Gives Chalk Talk
One of the interesting parts of the program was a chalk talk, "Twelve the Night Before Christmas," given by J. Emerson Russell.

"A Christmas Bill of Fare" was told by Miss Elizabeth Staker, followed by scene from a well-known Christmas play, "The Ruggle Family Learns How To Behave at Dinner," from "The Bird's Christmas Carol," by Kate Douglas Wiggin. The cast was as follows: Mrs. Ruggles, Miss Dorothy Bush; Sarah Maude, Mrs. Bernita LeMaster; Cornelius, Lowell Halderman; Clem, Lowell Coulter; Eliza, Margaret Berry; Peter, Charles Ellicker; Peoria, Miss Berdine Rinnert; and Larry, Harold Zacharia.

The program closed with the singing of "Silent Night, Holy Night," and "Jingle Bells," sung in French by Le Petit Salon, French club of the school.

K. H. Marshall, principal, announced the reopening of school for Jan. 7, and with several other remarks and announcements, the assembly closed.

Central Junior Program

Central Junior high school students assembled at 1:15 o'clock Friday afternoon for the annual Christmas program. W. E. Greath, principal, gave a short talk, after which the program was opened with singing "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," by the assembly. Miss Jean Welch was in charge of scripture reading. The first reading on the program was "Long 'Bout Christmas," given by Miss Ruth Forsinger. Miss Ruth Leonard gave two readings and Miss Doris Van Meter one reading. During the program, Miss Marilyn Messick gave a piano solo, followed by a violin solo by George Schoechle. Robert Dellinger and Miss Jean Runk also presented piano solos. "Christmas in Other Lands," a short playlet, was given by seven girls from Room 22. The program closed with the singing of "The First Noel."

NO, Rosalie and Penelope haven't joined the chorus nor are they posing in their newest undies. But they are displaying the newest in bathing attire for resort wear. It's a case of "don't go near the water" for Penelope. That is, as long as she wears her black and white monkey fur skirt. The jersey top is joined to matching trunks beneath the detachable fur skirt. She is sitting on an imported terry cloth blanket which may be buttoned to form sleeves and serves as a beach wrap. Rosalie feels youthful indeed in her "air chemise" of crepe de Chine with embroidery that resembles a child's rompers or the suit in which "ladies of the ensemble" do their prancing. The air chemise is donned after the swim to ventilate the body. While seems to be the favorite for beach wear as it "sets off" a carefully acquired sunburn.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS CARDS

If you greet your friends by way of the card route this year, don't forget yourself that by any means it was a gesture that didn't mean anything in the commercial world. The checks you parted from in the transaction went to fill the coffers of a $35,000,000 American industry. And maybe you think it didn't mean anything to produce all those cards. It isn't all the gay and jolly life of times and paint that it looks to be, according to those in the business. Each of the 40 firms engaged in the business go about in fear and trembling lest some one else steal their stuff. Designs are kept secret until it is too late for any of them to be copied in time for the current demand and artists are offered big fees not only to work for one firm, but to return to work for the other 39.

One collection of cards shows that 100,000 different sizes and designs have been used and discarded from year to year and the Christmas card has only become a universal custom in America within the past generation. If you think you are really springing something new, just get the idea off your chest. Back in the 1810's Thomas Shorneel, of Leith, Scotland, drew a laughing face with the words "A Gude Year to Ye."

A CHRISTMAS POEM

FATHER calls me Willie, sister calls me Will,
Mother calls me Willie, but the folks call me Bill!

Might glad I ain't a girl—rather be a boy, Without them sashes, curls and things that's worn my Fatherless!

Love to clank green apples an' go swimmin' in the lake—Hate to take the Easter-day they give for holy-cake!

Must all the time of the whole year round
there ain't no flies on me, but just 'fore Christmas,
I'm as good as I can be!

Got a yeller dog named Spot, shut him on the cat;
First thing she knows she doesn't know where she is at;

Got a slipper sled, and when us kids goes out to slide,
"Long comes the grocery cart, an' we all back a ride!

But sometimes when the grocery man is worried an' cross he reaches at us with his whip, an' larpins up his boss.

"Oh, ye never teased me!"
but just 'fore Christmas,
I'm as good as I can be!

Gran'ma says she hopes that when I get to be a man I'll be a missonner like her oldest brother, Dan.

As we sit up by the candlelight that lives in Ceylon's Isle, where every prospect pleases, an' only man is vile!

But gran'ma she has never been to see a Wild West Show, nor read the life of Daniel Boone, or else I guess she'd know that Buffalo Bill and cowboys is good enough for me!

Except 'jest 'fore Christmas, when I'm good as I can be!

Most people never know the sweet contentment of becoming thoroughly fatigued.

One may study a book of etiquette, but the trouble is fashionable people are always changing the rules.

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

H. H. Won't Be Long, Now! H. H. H. H. Daughter!

Now cometh the Season of weeping and wailing among women—and of gashing of teeth among men!

When turkeys are fattened for the killing and pine forests are heaved down to make a Roman holiday!

When nerves give way under the strain, and digestions are wrecked with the eating!

When wise and gentle women forget that they are civilized as they go forth to do battle at the shop counters and to trample one another down in the highways and the large basements.

When a woman recklessly squanders money which she cannot afford, upon trinkets which nobody wants, and gifts for those she hates.

When a dandy seeketh with agony of spirit and sweat of the brow for the Perfect Gift which shall delight her beloved, yet knoweth in her heart that NO man was ever pleased with a gift from a WOMAN!

When a tormenteth his soul and racketh his imagination, to find an offering which shall satisfy the heart of a dandy, yet shall leave him the where-withal to pay his tailor, his landlord and his tobaccoist.

When a bachelor looketh into his empty heart and wisthly sadly that he were a married man—and a married man feeleth his empty pockets and wisthly that he were a bachelor.

When a maiden saith in her heart, "If he cometh not across with the solitaire and the avowal, NOW, then shall I know that he hath escaped me! Then shall I know that there is nothing IN it!"

When the Bachelor guardeth his lips and putteth a padlock-upon his heart, lest he weaken, and despond from the sight of the woman!

When the church bells ring merrily saying, "Peace on earth to men of good will!" Yet none have merriness in it!

When the church bells ring merrily saying, "Peace on earth to men of good will!" Yet none have merriness in it!

When the church bells ring merrily saying, "Peace on earth to men of good will!" Yet none have merriness in it!

Industrials Climb Back to Higher Price Levels Ground Lost Recovered

Wall Street Not Prepared for Surprising Strength Exhibited by Stock Market This Week, Peak for Year for 20 Industrials 227.04

BY W. S. COUSINS
Market Star Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Industrials climbed back steadily to higher price levels this week, recovering practically all of the ground lost in the heavy shake-out of the week before last.

the bears who sold the market short in the first part of the month, had the surprise of their lives. Instead of dropping to lower and lower levels as they had anticipated, industrial stocks have steadily advanced, and the bears on manual have had to swallow their losses with as good grace as they could muster.

According to the International News Service's compilation of average prices, the peak of the year for 20 industrial stocks was 227.04. At the end of the break on Dec. 8 the average stood at 213.10, a drop of 13.94 points, one of the most severe on record for such a short period.

On Thursday of this week the average price of these stocks returned to above the Nov. 30 level and closed at 227.04. Although on or two of the high price favorites, including Radio and Victor, have not won back all their lost ground, more than 20 stocks during the week recorded their highest prices for the year.

Wall Street refused to become nervous over the prospect of a further money market next week. With brokers loans down an additional $65,000,000 and the big professional money, there was little danger that the stock market would be lifted up to a point in the eve of the heaviest January bank payments in history.

Extreme dullness prevailed in the stock market at the beginning of the week with trading back to the 200,000 share last class of midday. It was plain that the market dried up as selling pressure increased and Wall Street's motto about being careful not to "sell a slow market" was fully substantiated by the result.

The big bulk had a comparatively easy time in boosting the prices of the speculative blue chips which have been dancing on the fence for a year or more. In some cases buying orders for a few thousand shares were sufficient to force prices up from 10 to 15 points. Radio again for the week was close to 30 points. Victor Talking Machine, Hines-Mansell, General Electric and other favorites moved up from five to 15 points in a form market. Nothing was a foregone conclusion for the oil companies, said a prominent oil executive this week. Another prominent oil producer, Mid-Continent Petroleum, was on a dividend basis, and Sinclair was tipped for similar action shortly after the first of the year.

Oil stocks moved up briskly, most of the favorites selling at the year's highest prices, and buying demand concentrated on Mid-Continent, Sinclair Standard of New York, Atlantic Refining and Marland.

Coppers were strong on the prospect of higher prices for the metal. Higher dividends for prominent companies and the actual raising of the dividend on Grandly Consolidated Copper Metal will sell at 17 cents a pound next year according to the best estimates of the trade.

Gold money into banks between 1 and 5 per cent, and time rates over the year and were firm at 7½ to 8 per cent.

COMMANDER SAILS
Evangeline Booth Determined to Change a Constitution
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Using an incognito and wearing civilian clothes instead of her usual Salvation Army uniform, Commander Evangeline Booth left for London today aboard the White Star liner Olympic.

As head of the "reform" movement within the army, Commander Booth sailed to attend the first meeting of the organization's high council which may result in the removal of her brother, Gen. Bramwell Booth, as international head. He is seriously ill in London.

Commander Booth and her followers are determined to change the Army's constitution so as to eliminate the clauses which not only give her brother sole control of the organization during his lifetime but empower him to name his successor and hand down his position in hereditary succession.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Using an incognito and wearing civilian clothes instead of her usual Salvation Army uniform, Commander Evangeline Booth left for London today aboard the White Star liner Olympic.

As head of the "reform" movement within the army, Commander Booth sailed to attend the first meeting of the organization's high council which may result in the removal of her brother, Gen. Bramwell Booth, as international head. He is seriously ill in London.

Commander Booth and her followers are determined to change the Army's constitution so as to eliminate the clauses which not only give her brother sole control of the organization during his lifetime but empower him to name his successor and hand down his position in hereditary succession.

Speak right up... tell him you want a HOOVER

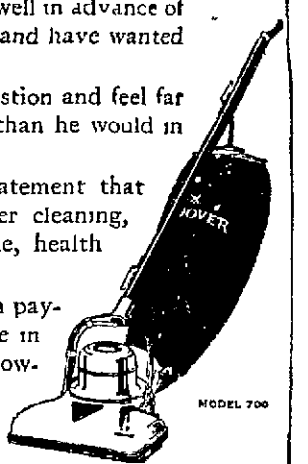

If you are still waiting for that Hoover you have hoped to get each Christmas for several years, the possibilities are that you haven't adopted the right method.

The average husband isn't an expert mind reader. Your predicament calls for bolder strategy. Tell him well in advance of the eventful day that you want a Hoover—and have wanted it for a long, long while.

He will be glad to have such a sane suggestion and feel far more competent to make such a purchase than he would in the selection of some feminine trinket.

He will see the wisdom, too, of your statement that The Hoover, with its faster, easier, deeper cleaning, will contribute immeasurably to your time, health and happiness.

The Hoover may be purchased for a down payment of only $6.25; the balance is payable in small monthly sums. There is a liberal allowance for old cleaners. And there are three fine models from which to choose, all with "Positive Agitation."

AMERICAN GOLF HAS GOOD YEAR

Tennis Continues Slump and France Wins All Major Titles; Jim Stewart of Southern California Sets New Record for Deception Event; Failure of Boxers Is Surprise

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
Copyright, 1928, by The Star

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Any consideration of the course of amateur sports in the year 1928 inevitably begins with the Olympic Games which were held in Amsterdam beginning with winter sports in January and concluding with a huge list of outdoor events last summer.

Primary interest concerned track and field tests which are, as they have always been, the main feature of these great international meetings. Here the United States was again successful, an achievement which in the minds of patriotic lovers of track and field seems to have been less important than the fact that the margin of victory maintained a tendency of recent years toward narrowness.

Measuring the victory of the United States on the basis of points awarded to first, second and third, which is the custom here, this country made an impressive showing, its 173 points as against 102 for Finland, whose athletes finished second. And in the number of firsts, which are counted in the Olympiad, the American team did well, collecting a total of seven firsts as against three first for Finland.

Four Shewing on Track

On the other hand the fact that this country failed poorly upon the track, winning but one first and not a single distance run, was not only as evidence that American athletes were deteriorating. And this, the writer believes, is unjust because the marked improvement which foreign runners have made in the past decade and not so much American deterioration has been the cause of our failure in events which in the earlier days of the Olympics we used to win.

The truth is that Americans were up against superior performance and as the years go on this fact will be emphasized. The United States surely will have to progress if our track men are to enter future Olympics with any chance of improving the present status, which now is already well advanced to fill up our points in the field events, if at all.

The failure of the American boxing team was a complete surprise. To be sure, there was talk of this official—there always seems to be among the loudest in boxing—but the stark fact remains that the foreign boxers are now addicted to the softness of life, to the luxury young men demand here. And it is beginning to tell, just as sooner or later it will tell in professional pugilism.

The great performance of the University of California eight-oared crew was one of those things that stir a patriot's blood and the aquatic team well merited the recognition they won throughout the world.

Feminine Slump Confirmed

But if there was cause for worry about the showing of the American track and field team, what about lawn tennis which saw the Davis Cup won for the second successive time by France and was also for the second successive year a French tennis star winning the United States national singles title? The winning of the singles at Wimbledon by Miss Helen Wills was in fact the one international performance which rebounded to the credit of Uncle Sam.

To complete the tale of war, the British women's Wightman Cup team came over here and trounced the American team. All in all a bad year athletically speaking for tennis, but in point of popular interest amazingly good. Even the absence of Tilden did not keep the crowd away from the Forest Hills stadium, an indication that the sport itself is firmly established irrespective of personalities.

Helen Wills, without extending herself greatly, won the national women's singles and today stands without a peer among her sex in the world. The much debated point as to whether she or Suzanne Lenglen is the better player no longer exists as a source of argument. Since Miss Lenglen's long absence from the court would make her an easy victim for the all-conquering Helen.

Golf Has Great Year

Golf continued to show an amazing gain in popularity, as evidenced by the widespread construction of new courses and the waiting lists which now characterize practically all the clubs of the country.

Bobby Jones maintained his position as the world's greatest golfer, not only by winning the National Amateur title but by finishing even with Johnny Farrell in the National Open, Farrell winning the play-off after a grand match.

Walter Hagen, who had seemed to be slipping—at least he was not a figure in winter golf—showed that he retained his playing skill by coming through to a championship in the British Open, with Gene Sarazen, as runner-up.

Deathless Record Broken

Jim Stewart of the University of Southern California won distinction by breaking the national record for the deception in completing a ten-event schedule with a total of 7700.43 points as against the total of 7674.72 held by Paul Hahn, of Nebraska, while Joe Hay, the Chicago taxi driver and former minor, returned to the limelight by shining as a marathon runner. His greatest exploit was winning the New York to Long Beach Marathon, official distance twenty-nine miles, in 2 hours 34 minutes, 10.25 seconds. Joe, too, was looked upon to win great honors for the U. S. A. in the Olympic Marathon, but failed to even finish.

The 1928 football season was perhaps the most remarkable ever held. The fact that of all the important events in the country only one—Georgia Tech—was neither beaten nor tied may have meant that the fall saw more teams of even strength than ever before. Or again it may have meant that a strange and unexpected lapse occurred in the various sections. Perhaps the first season is nearer the truth.

Football knowledge is ever increasing and what as a decade ago there were comparatively few coaches who knew a lot about teaching the game, today there are scores and scores of them.

At any rate the late season was one of upset after upset. The situation began with the first Saturday of play and continued thereafter. The clearest view in the world is that of a series of upsets and experts—including the writer—who thought that by studying comparative form they could formulate an accurate opinion concerning the outcome of contests. It couldn't be done; not last season at all events.

TEX RICKARD WOULD PURCHASE STOCK IN NEW YORK GIANTS

Reported To Be Conferring with McGraw on Proposed Deal

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Tex Rickard and John McGraw, a couple of gentlemen who normally have little in common beyond the fact that each has no particular objection to doing himself some good, are understood to have been conferring behind closed doors these several days, with the result that the hardy annual having to do with the sale of the New York Giants came up for air again today. Frankly, it is more than probable that it will get exactly what it came up for.

Rickard has made no secret of the fact that he would like to buy the controlling interest in the Giants. McGraw, having known matters that were more ideal than his present associations, might be pardoned if he broke right down and laughed over the prospect of Charles Stoneham selling out. If Rickard and McGraw have had anything to say to each other, it seems reasonable to suspect that the merits of buying as a vacation were discussed more as an after thought than anything else. The entire matter concerns down to this and other revelations of a startling nature: If they talked, they said something. If they said something, it had to do with a possibility of Rickard buying out Stoneham's controlling interest in the club. So much for that. Rickard is for it. So probably is McGraw.

UNFORTUNATELY, one can not speak with the same assurance for either Stoneham or the National League. I would say, offhand, that both would have to be for it or the deal might not prove altogether successful. Nobody knows how Stoneham feels about selling the New York Giants.

In the first place, he is under agreement to offer his stock first to McGraw and Judge McQuinn. In the event that he feels the urge to sell. For obvious reasons, he has yet to feel the urge in the face of these conditions.

As for the National League, it is said to have two things against Rickard and one of them would be enough, since the league must give its official countenance to transactions like this. Its first objection is said to have to do with an undeciphered reluctance to mix boxing with baseball. It is being estimated, for some reason or none at all, that the fair name of the sport can not hope to be elevated thereby.

Romano Ranks Loughran As Leading Heavyweight

HEAVYWEIGHTS
1. Tommy Loughran; 2. Jack Sharkey; 3. Paulino Uzcudun; 4. Tom Heene; 5. Young Stribling.

THE heavyweight class as a whole has been disappointing during 1928. Ability has been wanting at times but not frequently enough to satisfy the fans or lead to the hope that any one man would stand out big enough to dominate the class.

The writer has had to delve into a lighter division for a leader—Tommy Loughran. There are sound reasons for this. Loughran's work is far above beyond the ordinary. As a boxer and all-round good ringman he far exceeds any of the big fellows. He has beaten John Risbo, Young Stribling and Jack Gross among the heavyweights and cleaned up the lighter class to the satisfaction of the most exacting fan.

Conceding Jack Sharkey second place in the ranking is not due to

CAGE STARS MAKE UP COLUMBUS TEAM TO PLAY EAGLE FIVE

Contest Scheduled for Wednesday Night in Star Auditorium

WHAT promises to be the outstanding basketball card of the season will be played in Star auditorium here Wednesday night when the Marlow Eagles clash with the Robert Lee Hoardsters of Columbus.

The Robert Lees rank as one of America's greatest basketball quintets playing independent professional ball. Comparing the team with five of the American leagues, the Robert Lees show up exceptionally bright. Last year the Columbus club chalked up victories over the Cleveland Rosenblums, Fort Wayne Cases, Washington Palaces and Brooklyn.

The team is made up of the leading stars of college basketball for the past several years. Players on the team have been participating in the professional game for many years.

Mario (circle), having played here a number of times. In the lineup will be included Mel Shaw, Bill Hunt, Gus McMillan, Judge Unesman, Bob Shew, Buck Lammie and Mike O'Neil. The contest will get under way at 8:15 and will be preceded by a preliminary affair.

THAT'S THAT

Rickard Gives Sharkey Until Monday To Sign Up

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Promoter Tex Rickard says he has issued an ultimatum to Jack Sharkey to come to terms by Monday night for the Young Stribling bout in Miami Beach in February or yield the shot to Paulino.

Rickard characterized the $150,000 demand as "absurd" and stated that he had once offered Sharkey $75,000.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At New York—Jim Maloney, Boston heavyweight, was scheduled to come here yesterday for a conference with Rickard. Instead he telephoned to New York sports writers that Rickard had offered Sharkey $75,000 to fight Stribling but that Boston Jack was holding out for $150,000.

CON O'KELLY HOLDS MALONEY TO DRAW IN GARDEN FRACAS

Low Blows of Boston Pug Turns Tide of Battle

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Young Con O'Kelly, fresh from County Cork, is wearing another green feather in his cap today as a result of holding Jim Maloney, Boston veteran, to a draw in 10 rounds last night at Madison Square Garden.

It was quite an achievement for the youngster, who is not yet accustomed to American methods of pug warfare. Tabbing the rounds closely, Maloney had a shade, but he spotted an otherwise creditable performance by striking O'Kelly low five or six times. Under the rules in New York this offense can carry heavy penalties on a judge's score card, even if it does not provoke disqualification by the referee.

Maloney undoubtedly was punished on this score by the officials, and as O'Kelly outdid him in nervousness, clean fighting and accurate punching, the verdict was well received, especially after O'Kelly held the upper hand in the last three rounds when Maloney was very tired.

The writer's score gave Maloney five rounds O'Kelly four and one even. It was a fast fight for heavy weights, featured by flashes of pretty boxing and solid punching.

Innocent bystanders not only got into trouble, but they won't keep still.

If it were not for the boys 15 years of age, how would we ever get the new men's fashions started?

DEFINITE WORD BY HOOVER IS AWAITED

Congress and Coolidge Appear To Have Agreed on Compromise Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—For the time in five years of constant cultural warfare, congress and Coolidge appeared today to have agreed upon a happy compromise in the new McNary-Haugen relief bill.

The agreement, however, does not ensure early action on the bill as congressional leaders are awaiting some definite word from President-elect Herbert Hoover before calling up the measure. The president-elect it was agreed has been queried as to his wishes three times since he left on his south American good will tour but has not replied.

Farm relief leaders have predicted that Mr. Hoover will make his views known as soon as he reaches the coast of Florida early in the New Year.

It is expected to say whether he wishes the present congress to enact the new McNary-Haugen bill or whether he prefers to have the legislation held up for a special session of the new congress after he takes office as president March 4.

The new McNary-Haugen bill in its present form, Mr. Hoover's approval according to a story told in high republican circles this same bill with the equalization fee left out—was drafted a year ago by Hoover himself and Secretary of Agriculture J. C. Lincoln and sent to the senate agricultural committee. It never saw the light of day since congress at that time was intent on enacting the bill which carried the equalization fee.

Since the election, it was said, Senator McNary, Republican of Oregon, revived the old Hoover-Jarvis bill put in a few minor changes and reintroduced it.

This revised measure providing for a federal farm board the creation of stabilization corporations for each crop, the establishment of advisory councils composed of real dirt farmers and providing a $300,000,000 relief fund has the president's approval. It was said the president undoubtedly will follow the lead of Secretary Jardine and the house gave the bill his unreserved endorsement.

Monday at 1 o'clock, Santa Claus will give each child attending a gift. The feature picture for the last half of the week will be the story of the arval life of "The Robin" featuring Gertrude Olmstead and Hugh Ferriss.

Grand Theatre
With the opening performance Sunday afternoon of "Getting Gertrude's Garter," the Myrtle Ross Players stock company at the Grand theatre will resume their one-a-week program discontinuing the policy of two shows a week which has been going the last three weeks. SEEK TO CLEAR TITLE TO MACCABEE TEMPLE

BUYRUS, Dec. 22—Mabel Cunningham and H. J. Burget, administrators and trustee of the estate of the late Mary A. Burget of Galion, today filed a petition in the common pleas court here, seeking to clear up the title to the Galion Maccabee Temple, against Arthur Gishill, William Sponauer, W. C. Kueble, Sam Frankel, Haslett furnace company and H. P. Delayer, all business men of Galion, asking the court to enjoin the defendants from any lien on the temple claimed by them in advance filed in the recorder's office here. The plaintiffs agree to pay a balance due for work of reconstructing the temple claimed by Delayer and ask that the title to the temple be quieted.

The action was filed here by Attorney C. F. Schaefer of this city.

TAX TIME EXTENSION
BUYRUS, Dec. 22—The county commissioners today passed a resolution granting the County Treasurer Ivan Smith an extended period of 30 days time in which to make his tax collections. Less than 25 per cent of taxes due this term have been paid up until yesterday, the final day. The tax office will close Saturday evening January 10, under the extended period of time.

LOANS UP TO $500

One reason why certain people you know are able to save and build up a home, is that they arrange their debts systematically at an early stage of the game. They assemble their obligations, concentrate their efforts and speed up success.

It may be that it was your own next-door neighbor who borrowed from The City Loan to pay the balance on his furniture and car and deliver bill and then paid his loan in six months at a total cost of $10.00. This is not a myth nor a rare occurrence but an every-day happening at The City Loan.

Hundreds of people from all walks in life are borrowing every day in order to remove the well-known burden of too many debts.

Lad Shot Through Head, is Awaiting Coming of Santa

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 22 — Nine-year-old Allan Asaro, shot through the head while playing with his father's revolver, is waiting for Kris Kringle.

Within the grim shadow of death, which may elapse him to its cold and chilling bosom at any moment, the spark of life in his sturdy and chubby body is being sustained only by psychology.

"He is determined not to die until Santa Claus comes."

In that whisper which thrilled to the marrow of the child's intelligence against death, Dr. E. H. Van Tassel voted today his opinion as to the astounding vitality of the little chap.

Although Allan is fighting valiantly against the approach of death, surgeons declare there is no hope for his recovery. "Keep Allan alive until Christmas morning!" is the cry of doctors and nurses as well as of the heartbroken parents, the sisters and the brother of the courageous lad.

To keep alive the spark of life the doctors have brought heaps of toys that almost filled a clothing closet. Should he live until the time that "Kris Kringle" arrives, these toys will be given to him.

But if the dim flame of life flickers too soon, then the toys will be given him at once so he may gaze on them before he goes to meet the eternal mystery.

The boy shot himself accidentally with a revolver in the home while his mother was shopping.

MEEKER-M'CONNELL TRIP STILL SECRET

Airplanes Ordered To Be Ready at Oakland for Return Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—Refueled and towed up, the monoplane which brought David O. Meeker and Ruth M'Connell, New York heiress, was awaiting orders to hop off on the return trip this morning—but not even the pilot knew who his passengers would be, nor was he sure that he would have any.

Meeker who arrived here in the middle of the night, hours later than the girl who came by train, spent Friday in leaving her to return with him to her eastern home because of her poor health.

Meeker did not confirm the airport rumor that he would leave for New York today.

Miss M'Connell had checked out of her San Francisco hotel and was in hiding this morning.

Attendants at the Oakland airport said they had orders to have the plane on the runway at 8 a. m. The ship is a cabin type with a three person capacity and it is possible that Miss M'Connell may return with Meeker.

The chairs in the cabin of a European passenger carrying airplane can be converted into comfortable berths for sleeping persons at night.

Its details carefully guarded from the public, an airplane has been built in England that is expected to attain a speed of 300 miles an hour.

The bristles of a new brush are formed like a corkscrew to facilitate insertion in bottles with small necks and reach all parts of their interiors.

Designed primarily for heating a room, a French inventor's electric stove can be used also for cooking food, heating flatirons and toning bread.

VIOLIN STOLEN

Marion School Girl Loses Highly Prized Instrument

While 13-year-old Adeline Hecker, 320 Blaine av., was buying postcards at the counter in the Wo-dworth store at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, her violin and case were stolen, according to a report made to police late last night.

Miss Hecker prizes her violin highly for sentimental reasons. It has been in the family for several generations and was given to Miss Hecker by her father. She is a member of the Central Junior high school and Central Choral church orchestras.
